Welcome to the DFPM!

Dr. Amir Antonios has joined the Division of Family Medicine after completing his residency at WellStar Atlanta Medical Center. Dr. Antonios earned his MD at American University of Antigua College of Medicine. He also served as a combat medic in 256th Area Support Medical Company (2010-2016).

Please welcome Yasmine Shakur as Assistant Program Coordinator for DFPM Research! She will support different administrative and programmatic functions for our growing research enterprise. She is working with us on a part-time basis but will temporarily expand her role in September to assist Dr. Leslie Johnson with her GDM project. Ms. Shakur is originally from Orlando, FL and recently graduated from RSPH with her MPH.

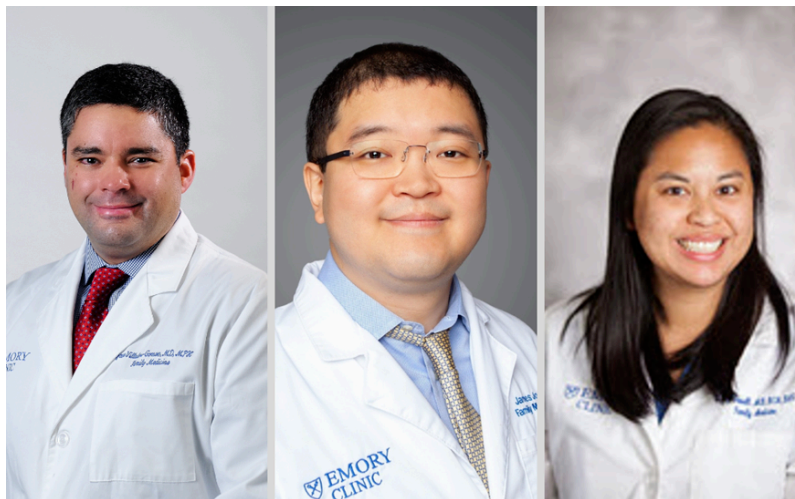

While at Rollins, she founded Emory's Disability, Illness, and Divergent Collaborative to support and advocate for those with disabilities achieving higher education. Her passion is improving patient outcomes for minority women with chronic illnesses, autoimmune disease, and disabilities through qualitative research.

Ms. Shakur is proud mother to her cat, Gypsy and proud aunt of her niece, Luna. Outside of her interests in public health, she is an artist and loves being creative. She also enjoys exploring Atlanta and beyond!

Faculty & Staff Achievements

Dr. Sara Turbow has been nominated for the Department of Medicine "Outstanding Scientific Citation Award" which recognizes researchers who are producing outstanding basic and clinical/translational (including quality improvement and health services) research publications. Dr. Turbow is the Program Director for the Preventive Medicine Residency and Fellowship Program.

Ms. Toni Taylor is a nominee for the Department of Medicine "Outstanding Newcomer Award" which recognizes a newly-hired staff member for his/her excellent support and exceptional performance during the first year of employment. These nominees have made significant contributions within their work teams, division, the Department, and/or the School of Medicine despite being employed within the Department of Medicine for one year or less. Toni is the program coordinator for both the Palliative Medicine and the Geriatrics Fellowships.

Mr. Jason Freiji is a nominee for the Department of Medicine "Leadership Excellence Award" which recognizes a staff member for his/her exemplary leadership accomplishments and contributions to the Department of Medicine, School of Medicine, and Emory University. These nominees have led, served, inspired, and collaborated with broad-ranging impact beyond their regular responsibilities. Jason served as interim DFPM Administrator from October 2022-May 2023 in addition to serving as division administrator for general internal medicine and geriatrics/gerontology.

Dr. Leigh Partington has been promoted to Senior Manager, Marketing for the Department of Family and Preventive Medicine. She supports faculty develop and manages internal and external communications for DFPM, the division of General Internal Medicine, and the Primary Care Consortium.

Spotlight on Partnerships

Our department has multiple thriving partnerships, both inside and outside the department.

Dr. Kaplan also has a partnership and affiliation with the recently established Emory ADJUST Center. This partnership has led to Dr. Kaplan's first-authored publication, Wear With Care: A Call for Empirical Investigations of Adverse Outcomes of Consumer Health Wearables.

Pictured above: Dr. Megha Shah and the DREAM ATL and NYC teams at a site visit from their pilot study. Dr. Shah just received NOA on a new RO1 with her partners at NYU entitled: "Scaling Telehealth Models to Improve Co-Morbid Diabetes and Hypertension in Immigrant Populations." Dr. Nadia Islam is the PI and Dr. Shah is the Study Site PI for Atlanta.

FPM Summer Celebration Continues!

It still feels like summer outside, so our celebration of a summer of work-life balance continues. Our DFPM faculty and staff have worked hard this summer, but they have also traveled, relaxed, and enjoyed summer!

Educational Investments for our future

Educational News and Events

The Family Medicine Interest Group and Emergency Medicine Group co-hosted a recent event for medical students titled Is There a Doctor on Board? In-Flight Medical Emergencies. Over 35 students attended, Family Medicine resident Dr. Nathalie Perez and Dr. Ryan Smith helped lead simulations, and Dr. Neena Ghose helped organize the event.

Emory Family Medicine faculty Dr. Bernadette Baker and FM Residents Dr. Jungwon "Allison" Choi, Dr. Teresa Colon-Asumu, and Dr. Alanna Meadows recently attended the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP) meeting. Dr. Colon-Asumu served as a Resident Delegate from Georgia. Here's what she had to say about her experience: "I am a Resident Alternate Board member for the GAFFP with various colleagues around Georgia. This was my first time going to AAFP and also being involved with advocacy, so I had no idea what to expect. There were several required sessions daily including attending both joint and individual Resident/Medical Student congress sessions. We had the opportunity to hear from previous members regarding all the accomplishments and opportunities they had while serving on their position in AAFP. It was truly eye opening to see how involved we can be as residents with policy, ACGME decisions, and much more. I had the opportunity to learn how to write a resolution and to give a testimony regarding a proposed resolution. Then we voted on the adoption of all proposed resolutions and new resident AAFP positions. It was very inspiring to see my fellow colleagues dedicate themselves to serve on these various leadership roles and truly engage in advocating for topics such as resident burnout, DEI initiatives, and IMG acceptance."

Dr. Karla Garcia Ortiz has been named the 2022-2024 LaHouse Scholar for the Emory Family Medicine Residency. Dr. Garcia Ortiz plans to become an active member of the Georgia Academy of Family Physicians and work on scholarly projects impacting the Latino and Hispanic community in Georgia.

Save the Date!

Dr. Paul Williams of "The Curbsiders Podcast" will deliver the William T. Branch Innovations in Primary Care lectureship this year. On October 4, 2023, from 4-6 pm at Wild Heaven Brewery, 1010 White St SW, Atlanta, GA 30310. He will speak on "Social Media and Medicine: Connectivity and Disconnects."

Recommended reading: Dr. Paul DeSandre recommends this article about the reality of CPR vs. public understanding of CPR. The Hidden Harms of CPR | The New Yorker

Recent Preventive Medicine Residency/Fellowship graduate Dr. Siri Chirumamilla was nominated for induction into Delta Omega, an honorary society for public health.

Service for our future

Congratulations to Dr. Rosette Chakkalakal selected to be part of the 2023 Women's Leadership Development program. The program is designed for mid-career women faculty who demonstrate strong potential for assuming executive leadership positions in academic medicine and aims to strengthen the network among women faculty members, develop and enhance leadership and career development skills, and contribute to efforts to create a more diverse and inclusive environment. Meet this year's cohort.

Congratulations to Dr. Janelle Holder selected to be part of the Emory at Grady 2023 Under-Represented in Medicine (URiM) faculty development program. The program, offered in collaboration with the Department of Medicine's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Council, provides resources, information, and tools important for navigating academic health sciences as a URiM faculty member. Meet this year's cohort.

Dr. Tina-Ann Thompson is the new Steering Committee Chair of Emory Alliance of Women in Medicine and Science Steering Team

Film Screening and Creator Q&A

In collaboration with the Paul W. Seavey Lecture Series and the Office of Medical Education and Student Affairs, the Emory Primary Care Consortium will screen 'The Only Doctor' and have a Creator Q&A on September 24th. Register here.

From IMDb: "Dr. Karen Kinsell is the only doctor in all of Clay County, Georgia, one of the poorest and unhealthiest rural regions in the state. Her clinic has served the most vulnerable in her community for over 22 years, but now faces bankruptcy. Despite not drawing a personal salary to help keep the doors open, Kinsell must now weigh retiring against providing healthcare to her patients. When a Hail Mary offer arrives from [Mercer University], a fully equipped health center is proposed. But Kinsell makes affordability and access her personal red lines of the potential sale. An impending state election and the outbreak of COVID add more uncertainty to the fraught population, reminding Kinsell of how much is riding on the fine print. Straight-talking and downright inspirational, The Only Doctor presents a modern David-versus-Goliath healthcare story that might just restore your faith in humanity."

Open positions: 14 (2 co-chairs, 12 committee members)

Term: 1-2 years with option of renewal – beginning October 2023

Eligibility: SOM regular, full-time faculty, staff, and learners.

What is D&I Week: Diversity & Inclusion Week is a collaborative celebration and education initiative across the SOM to explore the broad range of identities and experiences that make up our diverse community as well as showcase the incredible work being done inclusive of our learners, faculty, and staff on topics of DEI. The focus of the week, which is typically the 2nd or 3rd week of May, will be the domains of awareness and education/research, innovation, and discovery and programs.

Co-Chair Duties: Co-chairs will work together to lead the committee in meetings, planning of the week, and other tasks as well as work in conjunction with the Office of Equity and Inclusion to execute the week.

Speaker Development Subcommittee Chair: You will be responsible for leading the efforts in contacting speakers and panelist for the week. Duties include but are not limited to coordinating speaker schedules, sending out speaker invites, logistics planning for the week and other tasks. Please note this is a working committee, which means there will be regular meetings as well as work that will sometimes need to be done outside of the scheduled meeting times.

Cultural Subcommittee Chair: You will be responsible for leading the efforts for the block party and other programming that may arise within the week. Duties include but are not limited to booking food truck vendors, setting up the art gallery, coordinating block party setup, and other tasks. Please note this is a working committee, which means there will be regular meetings as well as work that will sometimes need to be done outside of the scheduled meeting times.

Committee Duties: Planning committee members will assist with planning, selection of speakers, and determining the overall format of the week while also completing other tasks assigned by the co-chairs. Please note this is a working committee, which means there will be regular meetings as well as work that will sometimes need to be done outside of the scheduled meeting times.

Submit online nomination: Self-nominate or submit nominations of individuals by Friday, Sept. 15, 2023.
