

2025 PEDIATRIC FACULTY AND PHYSICIAN AWARDS DESCRIPTIONS AND NOMINATION REQUIREMENTS

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Best Scientific Publication – Basic Science Description: Nominee must be first or last author of a laboratory-based investigation into mechanisms or processes with the potential of providing fundamental new knowledge in a basic science area published in 2024 or 2025. Nomination: Describe the merits of the submitted citation and why this publication deserves consideration and a description of the faculty member's contribution(s) to the work.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Best Scientific Publication – Clinical/Translational Description: Nominee must have made a major contribution to a study that uses clinical samples, epidemiological data, or laboratory-based studies that are directly applicable to a clinical problem published in 2024 or 2025. Nomination: Describe the merits of the submitted citation, include why this publication deserves consideration and a description of the faculty member's contribution(s) to the work.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Best Publication – Clinical Trial Description: Nominee must have made a major contribution to the paper reporting results of an important clinical trial published in 2024 or 2025. Nomination: Describe the merits of the submitted citation, include why this publication deserves consideration and a description of the faculty member's contribution(s) to the work.                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Best Quality Improvement Publication Description: Nominee must have made a major contribution to a publication that uses a systematic framework to improve care delivered to patients published in 2024 or 2025 Nomination: Describe the merits of the submitted citation and why this publication deserves consideration and a description of the faculty member's contribution(s) to the work.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Basic Research Mentor Description: Nominee has positively influenced the research progress and careers of their mentees and has significantly contributed to the success of others in basic research areas. Nomination: Describe how the nominee influenced the research progress and careers of their mentees. What makes them stand out as an exceptional mentor? How has their mentorship and leadership contributed to the success of others?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Clinical Research Mentor Description: Faculty member or physician who has positively influenced the research progress and careers of their mentees and has significantly contributed to the success of others in clinical research areas. Nomination: Describe how the nominee has influenced the research progress and careers of their mentees. What makes them stand out as an exceptional mentor? How has their mentorship contributed to the success of others?                                                                                                            |
| Excellence in Clinical Research (Jr. Faculty) Description: Instructor or Assistant Professor who has played a leadership/instrumental role in the development of an innovative new program/procedure in research. Nomination: Describe the innovative new program/procedure in research and the leadership role of the nominee in initiating the development and leading the new program. How has this new program contributed to and advanced research?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Excellence in Clinical Research (Senior Faculty) Description: Associate Professor or Professor who has played a leadership/instrumental role in the development of an innovative new program/procedure in research. Nomination: Describe the innovative new program/procedure in research and the leadership role of the nominee in initiating the development and leading the new program. How has this new program contributed to and advanced research?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Hal Simon Career Development Mentor Description: Senior faculty members or physicians who have significantly influenced the careers and development of faculty as evidenced by not only the individual career success of others but the collective success of a division, section, core, or broad-based initiative. Nomination: Describe how nominee has influenced the overall career progress of others in their Division or Center. What makes them stand out as an exceptional career development mentor?                                                                   |
| Joe Snitzer Master Clinician Award for Clinical Expertise Description: Nominee who has excelled in becoming a respected expert in their field. Nomination: Describe how the nominee excels in their clinical expertise, provide exceptional clinical care. Describe how they are consistently sought out for consultation, professional and personal advice?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Ira Adams-Chapman Advocacy Award Description: Nominee who consistently demonstrates kindness, sensitivity, care, generosity, compassion and advocacy to patients, families, and all members of the healthcare team. Nomination: Describe how the nominee demonstrates kindness and sensitivity in patient care, generosity in taking extra time and patience to explain diagnoses and procedures to patients, families and to fellow caretakers. How do they show sensitivity to family concerns and grief, and to cultural differences in patient care? Do they consistently acknowledge the contributions of all members of the healthcare team. How have they supported advocacy efforts for families, patients, healthcare teams, broadly or individually? | Game Changing Clinical or Research Program Development Description: Nominee has played a leadership/instrumental role in the development of an innovative new program/procedure in research or clinical care. Nomination: Describe the innovative new program/procedure and the leadership role of the nominee in initiating the development and leading the new program. How has this new program contributed to and advanced clinical care or discovery?                                                                                                                      |
| Susie Buchter Career Teaching Award Description: Nominee should have at least 20 years post-graduate experience (not necessarily all at Emory) and for whom teaching is a cornerstone of their career. Nominees should be known by their learners and colleagues as consistently exemplifying the best characteristics of an effective teacher. Nomination: Describe the nominee's ability to identify and address the needs of individual learners in novel and effective ways. Describe how they serve as a role model. Describe how they simplify difficult concepts, emphasize practical applications and help develop thought processes in trainees and regularly provide insightful and useful feedback to their learners. | Teacher of the Year Description: Nominee who has influenced the overall instruction of Emory learners through their quality of teaching, continuing education of physician colleagues and medical trainees. Nomination: Describe how the nominee has influenced the overall instruction of Emory learners through their quality of teaching, continuing education of physician colleagues and medical trainees. What makes them stand out as an exceptional teacher in general pediatrics or subspecialty pediatrics. How have they contributed to your breadth of knowledge and helped inspire your study and/or personal achievement?                                                                                                                        | Innovations in Teaching Program Development Description: Nominee who has played a leadership/instrumental role in the development of an innovative new teaching program. Nomination: Describe the innovative teaching program and the leadership role of the nominee in initiating the development and leading the new program. How has this new program contributed to advanced teaching/training?                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Outstanding Adjunct Faculty Award Description: Nominee is a volunteer faculty member who has significantly contributed to the instruction and ongoing clinical and/or research education of Pediatrics trainees (medical students, residents, and/or fellows). Nomination: Describe how the nominee has influenced the overall instruction of Emory learners in their capacity as an adjunct (volunteer) faculty member. Describe their contributions to the education and/or research mission(s) of Emory. What makes them stand out as an exceptional adjunct faculty member? |